

The weather today is bright and warm across the whole country.

Children play happily in the park near the river while their parents rest.

Birds sing softly from the tall green trees standing above the quiet path.